

WHAT THE STUDENTS SAY

SANDRA, AN UNDERGRADUATE STUDENT

These are studies for active and mobile people who have a lot of enthusiasm, energy and willingness to work. Studying here allows you to learn the problems and methods of working with other people, not only from the theoretical, but also practical side, for example during student training.

MACIEJ, AN UNDERGRADUATE STUDENT

The faculty provides a comprehensive knowledge about the human sciences. This is a very interesting field of study and creates many opportunities – whether it be child or adult education or, for instance, social and cultural animation.

BELINDA, AN ERASMUS STUDENT FROM THE NETHERLANDS

I was always interested in Eastern European countries. Before I came here to study as an Erasmus student, I'd been to Poland for holidays in the mountains and I wanted to learn more about this country – its culture, politics and educational system. I was surprised by how much this country has changed and that Warsaw is a modern and highly developed city. The courses are run in small groups here at the Faculty of Education and the communication with the teachers is informal, which I really like. I think everybody should come here because it is a really great experience to be in Poland.

REBECA, AN ERASMUS STUDENT FROM SPAIN

I find Poland very different from Spain. The faculty is quite the same as my original one, the subjects as well, but the weather is bad and that was the first thing that surprised me. I love Warsaw. I like the Old Town here and the Polish people. They are polite.

THE FACULTY OF EDUCATION AT THE UNIVERSITY OF WARSAW

THE FACULTY

THE FACULTY OF EDUCATION at the University of Warsaw has existed for over 50 years with a reputation for being one of the best universities in Poland. Each year the Faculty educates around 1200 students in the field of pedagogy. University education at the European level offered by the Faculty of Education creates new opportunities for future practitioners, educators and social researchers.

Thanks to the current training programmes for different specialities, the students gain a broad humanities knowledge in the fields of sociology and psychology within a dozen specializations, supplemented with experience gained through student training.

For many years we have cooperated with universities and colleges from all over Europe, including Belgium, Czech Republic, Ireland and Germany. Erasmus students may participate in the courses offered in English. Among these which are taught by our teachers in English are Development and Manifestations of Risk Behavior in Adolescence, Youth and Social Policy. A European Perspective, Turning Points in the History of Education and Intercultural Dialogue.

THE FACULTY OF EDUCATION OFFERS full-time (daily) and part-time (extramural) undergraduate studies (Bachelor's degree programme) and postgraduate studies (Master's degree programme), as well as doctoral studies. Classes for part-time students are conducted at weekends.

Students of education are offered 10 specializations within Bachelor's degree programme and 9 within Master's degree programme.
