

'A landscape of teacher education in Portugal: challenges and opportunities'

Diana Mesquita is currently an invited Assistant Professor at the Universidade Católica Portuguesa, Faculty of Education and Psychology, Porto, Portugal. Currently, she is also on the board of the Research Centre for Human Development (CEDH). Her research interests include: leadership and School Organization; Competency-Based Curriculum; Active Learning; Project-Based Learning; Teacher Learning; Professional Development; Higher Education; Engineering Education. She delivered more than 90 workshops dedicated to teacher training in Portugal, Brazil, Colombia, and Thailand. She participated in several national and international projects, organized more than 25 national and international conferences and has more than 90 publications of articles in international journals, book chapters and scientific events.

<https://ciencia.ucp.pt/en/persons/diana-mesquita>

Filipa Sobral completed her European Doctorate in Psychology, in the field of Psychology of Human Resources, Work and Organizations in December 2015 at the Faculty of Psychology, University of Lisbon (FP-UL). She has a Master's Degree in Human Resources Development Policies and a Degree in Sociology from the Instituto Superior de Ciências do Trabalho e da Empresa, Instituto Universitário de Lisboa (ISCTE-IUL). She is currently Assistant Professor at the Faculty of Education and Psychology, Catholic University of Portugal (FEP-UCP), Porto, Coordinator of the Masters in Psychology and Human Resources Development, at the same Faculty and she is also on the board of the Research Centre for Human Development (CEDH). She has been developing her research on human resources development and management in flexible work contexts in the Research Centre for Human Development of FEP-UCP and in the Research Centre in Psychological Science of FP-UL. She is also author or co-author of several articles in international journals such as Career Development International, European Journal of Work and Organizational Psychology, and Economic and Industrial Democracy.

<https://ciencia.ucp.pt/en/persons/filipa-sobral>